

SCRAPPING THE CARPARK TAX

KEEPING OUR CITY VIBRANT

A Marshall Liberal Government will scrap Jay Weatherill's toxic carpark tax.

The South Australian Liberals are committed to improving conditions for business, growing our economy and driving our State forward.

Jay Weatherill's carpark tax is a $23 million per year cash grab that will discourage motorists from visiting the Adelaide CBD.

Businesses, industry stakeholders and community leaders have all expressed concern about the impact this unnecessary tax will have on the South Australian economy.

Higher parking prices will mean fewer people visit the CBD, directly taking money out of small business owners' pockets.

If elected in March 2014, the Liberals will introduce legislation into the SA Parliament at the earliest opportunity to repeal the toxic carpark tax.

South Australians deserve a government that will not seek to tax their every move. They deserve a vibrant city where they can go about their business without worrying about inflated parking prices.

Only the Liberals will take government's hands out of the pockets of South Australians and take the handbrake off our economy.
