More meetings, more talk

As concerned people meet on a sandbar near Swan Reach today, where is Premier Mike Rann?

He should be here listening to issues regarding the River Murray and Lower Lakes, according to Shadow Minister for the River Murray Adrian Pederick.

“Why do we have to keep holding public meetings to get the Government’s attention that something needs to be done to ensure the future of our water supplies,” Mr Pederick said.

“We are sick of all the talk, and are ready for some action to be taken.

“It is essential that the Federal Government immediately take control of the system, and incorporate control of the Northern Murray Darling Basin as well.”
